

Volunteers Activities Support

Michal KOMPAN

The volunteering has a great history and hundreds of thousand supporters worldwide. Plenty of volunteer activities are supported by celebrities, politicians etc. The problem of local volunteer activities is how to inform and propagate about an event. The proposed idea – web portal with connection to mobile devices allow volunteers to inform people about local and global events respectively. Organization of such activities is then accessible to normal people also. In this way more and more problems can be discovered and solved. The connection to social networks and local authorities, personalized recommendation, rating and feedback are increasing the chance to gain sufficient group of interested people and the success of whole event also.

